5) Payments

The following conditions are designed to ensure fairness in all aspects of session management and business transactions for both parties. Payments for products and services purchased from Optimum Martial Arts Academy are processed in the following way.

- All prices advertised, listed, or quoted are in Australian dollars (AUD) and DO NOT INCLUDE GST.
- There are NO CASH PAYMENTS. All martial arts classes and personal training product packages must be paid for in advance by a credit / debit card payment or Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) of some kind.
- For recurring subscription auto debits, you will be debited the advertised amount(s) for martial arts classes and / or personal training at the amount(s) and intervals that are specified in the price list document for the product you have purchased. (Or alternative amount(s) and interval(s) agreed to in writing by both parties.)
- The specific payment amounts and intervals for each product or service are detailed on the purchase page (if applicable), and in the "Price List" documents.
- You (the student, parent, or guardian) agree to pay the full advertised amount for the product(s) and/or service(s) you are purchasing. (For example, a weekly Martial Arts Group Class subscription etc.) You authorise Neal Elliott / OMAA (or any other entity nominated by us) to bill you on the basis described in the above points.
- There are no refunds for unused, forfeited, or expired packages of services or products.

6) How To Pay For Your Classes

We have 3 ways to pay. You can choose whichever suits you best.

- 1) A weekly subscription payment
- 2) A Multi-Class Pass
- 3) Pay per visit casual rate

Student or Guardian's

All of these must be paid for electronically. In other words, we don't accept cash payments. The reason we don't accept cash payments is to avoid any issues with the Australian Taxation Office. Electronic transfers leave a clear money trail.

UNDERSTANDING THE DIFFERENT PAYMENT METHODS

The key to choosing the payment method that suits you best is understanding what the different strengths and weaknesses of each method are, and how they relate to your lifestyle and needs.

FIRST - WHAT IS A "SUBSCRIPTION"?

A weekly subscription payment is by far the cheapest method of paying for classes we provide, even if you have to take more time off than the 2 weeks "Time-Freeze" that we offer. This is particularly true for people doing more than one class per week, or if you have more than one family member doing classes with us.

Our definition of what a subscription is:

A subscription is an agreement between us (the provider), and you (the customer), in which you will receive a regular service (the right to access up to a certain number of group classes per week), and you will provide payment for that right of access for a one-year period.

In return, because you have committed to a 12 month period you are given a significant discount over the other two payment options.

So PLEASE NOTE:

With a subscription you are paying a weekly fee for the membership TIME FRAME (12 months).
You are NOT paying per class, or whether you actually attended the classes that are available in that time frame.

Canceling a Subscription

If you need to stop participating in classes you can cancel your subscription without penalty. For example, if you need to leave after 6 months for some reason we won't continue to charge you for the full 12 months.

However, although you can cancel your subscription at any time, there is a minimum time frame between when you cancel and when you can rejoin directly on another subscription. Subscriptions cannot be paused for more than the included two week "Time-Freeze" period. If you have cancelled a subscription and then decide you want to return to classes before that time frame has passed, you will be asked to purchase an interim Multi-Class Pass before you can start a new subscription.

This is to stop people from cheating the system and just stopping and starting subscriptions whenever they feel like it. That's not what this payment model is for. The number of classes on the pass you're offered when you return will be determined by your time away, and how often you want to do a class each week when you return.

So as long as you follow the rules you can cancel at any time if you need an extended break, and you won't be charged a cancellation fee of any kind.

Foundation Pricing

Like any other business we periodically increase our rates slightly to keep up with inflation and cost of living. Your "Foundation Price" is the price you started paying when you first joined. Generally, as a gift to you for your loyalty we don't increase the price of your subscription when we increase our prices as long as your subscription stays active, and is paid for on time each week without defaulting. (i.e. payment failure)

But if you cancel your subscription, or your payment has failed for any reason, you will lose your foundation price. If the price of a subscription has increased since you first joined, when you rejoin you will be rejoining at the current rate, not your original foundation price.

If you feel that this is not the best payment system for you, then one of other options may suit you better.

The Discounted "Pay By The Class" Option - MULTI-CLASS PASSES:

This is a true "pay-by-the-class" payment method. Put simply, you can buy anywhere from 1 to 20 classes in advance, and we create a digital pass similar to a rewards punch card or stamp card you might get at a coffee shop. Each time you come to class we just take one of the classes off until they are all gone.

The disadvantages are:

- 1) You have to pay for all of the classes on the pass up-front in advance.
- 2) Although you're still getting a per-class discount, each class costs more than the standard once a week subscription, which is currently $26. Each class on a pass costs $29 regardless of how many classes are on the pass.

The advantages are:

- 1) You are still getting a discount off the full class price because you are committing to more than one class.
- 2) You get more time to use the classes on a pass than with a subscription. For every class on a pass you get double that in weeks to use them. So if you buy 10 classes you get 20 weeks to use them.

PAY AS YOU GO CASUAL VISITS - $35 PER CLASS

This is the true cost of a single class! You just pay by Tap & Go each time you come to class.

7) Group Classes

- Group classes are run at pre-set times each week, and for our BARDIA location must be booked in advance.
- The standard rate for a single once a week 30 to 60 minute group class is $26 per week auto debited.
- There are no refunds for unused, forfeited, or expired lessons on group class it payments.
- All of the weekly payment subscriptions come with a MAXIMUM of 2 weeks time-freeze to pause payments for things like holidays or illness.

8) Private Lesson Base Rates*

Number of People	Cost per Person	Total Cost
1 Person (60 min)	$109	$109
2 People (60 min)	$75	$150
3 People (60 min)	$60	$180
4 People (60 min)	$50	$200

Travel Time Fees
Private lessons at any location other than the school headquarters will be charged the same rate as "in school" classes but will also incur a travel fee of $25 per ¼ hour of travel time. The travel fee is charged in minimum ¼ hour lots for both directions to and from classes. Therefore, up to 15 minutes travel time will cost an additional $25, 15 to 30 minutes travel time will cost an additional $50 etc.

* The more private lessons you commit to and purchase the cheaper each lesson becomes. See our website for a detailed breakdown of "multi-pack" prices.

9) Private Lesson Cancellations & Re-Bookings

Cancellation fees for private lessons are charged in the following way:

1 Hour & 45 Minute Lessons	More than 24 hours in advance	→	No Cancellation Fee
	Between 24 and 8 hours	→	50%
	Under 8 hours	→	100%
	No Show Fee	→	100%
30 Minute Lessons	More than 24 hours in advance	→	No Cancellation Fee
	Under 24 hours	→	100%
	No Show Fee	→	100%
Shared Lessons	More than 24 hours in advance	→	No Cancellation Fee
	Under 24 hours	→	100% of your share of the payment
	No Show Fee	→	100% of your share of the payment

10) Re-booking Private Martial Arts Lessons & Personal Training

If you have to cancel a private martial arts lesson within the 24-hour time limit, you can try to re-schedule it in the same working week (Monday to Saturday) that it was originally booked at no extra charge providing a mutually suitable time slot is available for both the instructor and the student. In the event a lesson cannot be re-scheduled in the same working week the cancellation fees as set out above will apply.

If the instructor must cancel or re-book a private lesson, they will endeavour to give the student as much notice as possible, and the lesson(s) can then be re-booked by the student at any mutually suitable time in the future. If the lesson(s) cannot be rebooked in the current working week any fees already paid in advance by the student will be rolled over to the next lesson(s) booked, and the appropriate amount will be deducted from those lesson(s) fees. If an instructor fails to show up for a private lesson without notice or is overly late* without notice, then the student will receive that private lesson (or a replacement lesson) for free and will not be charged for it. Any amount paid in advance for said lesson can be credited to an additional private lesson the student can redeem within 4 weeks of the instructor's no-show lesson.

* Overly late is defined as more than 3 minutes late for a 30-minute lesson, more than 4.5 minutes late for a 45-minute lesson, & more than 6 minutes late for a 1-hour lesson. If you have a mobile phone, please check it for messages before all of your lessons.

11) Public & Private Holidays & Holiday Period Cancellations

For 7 days before, and 7 days after any standard Australian holiday times a special set of cancellation terms will be in effect for any private lesson or personal training bookings within that timeframe. Common public holiday times such as Christmas, New Year, and Easter etc, as well as private vacation time taken by the instructor(s) are included in this definition. The instructors will notify all current students (i.e. people that have participated in group classes, semi-private, or private lessons within the previous 6 weeks) at least 2 weeks in advance when they will be taking any private vacation time off.

From 7 Days Before A Holiday	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> All cancelled private lessons carry a 100% cancellation fee regardless of when they were cancelled! All students must pay the balance of any cancellation fees to the instructor before the instructor leaves for their holiday. Further lessons will not be booked until after the student's account is fully paid and up to date.
Up To 7 Days After A Holiday	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> All cancelled lessons carry a 100% cancellation fee regardless of when they were cancelled. Further lessons will not be booked until after the student's account is fully paid and up to date.

12) The "No Show" Fee

A 100% "No Show" cancellation fee also applies to students failing to attend both booked private lessons and group classes without giving notice.

13) Sundays & Public Holidays Bookings

Sundays & public holidays may also be available for booking private lessons, but a 50% surcharge applies to Sundays, and a 100% surcharge applies on public holidays for all lessons booked on these days.

14) Class Safety & Effectiveness
